American Wire Group Announces Organizational Changes

January 11, 2022, Miami, Florida – American Wire Group (AWG), the leading supplier in the Electric Utility and Renewable Energy markets, today announced a key management change designed to further align the organization for the future. Effective January 1, 2022, Michael Dorfman is Chief Executive Officer and Joshua Dorfman has been appointed as President.

These new appointments position AWG for its exciting growth targets and expansion into new markets and territories. As CEO, Michael will focus on expanding AWG's solutions to include new and innovative products and services for the Renewable and Utility markets, and to retain his focus on solving our customers' needs.

Joshua will be responsible for maximizing customer service excellence, ensuring top quality products and services are available to our customers throughout the distribution network, and providing operational and systems controls to deliver on these priorities effectively.

"As a third-generation owners of AWG, Michael and Joshua have worked in several roles over the past 18 years. Their broad experience with both domestic and international customers, global supply chain optimization, and distribution excellence has given them a unique ability to foresee customers' needs and deliver the best solutions in their interest. I am very excited to see where Michael and Joshua will take this company," said Robert Dorfman, Chairman of AWG.

Michael, based in AWG's Miami headquarters, holds a Bachelor's degree from Northeastern University, specializing in Finance, Management Information Systems, and Business.

Joshua, based in AWG's Chicago operations center, holds a MBA from Loyola University, Quinlan School of Business, specializing in Entrepreneurship & Operations Management and a Bachelor of Business Administration in Finance and International Marketing from George Washington University.

American Wire Group specializes in wire and cable solutions for the utility and renewable energy markets. For more information, contact marketing@buyawg.com
